Neverland Inspires Kids' Imagination

From July 20 to 24 children from around Cincinnati gathered at Cincinnati Nature Center, Long Branch Farm (LBF) to bake natural snacks, go canoeing, build forts, and just have a good time being kids. Camp Neverland inspires children to respect nature and use their imagination. Whether the day entails picking wild berries and baking pies, playing "canoe tag," or building a town of fortresses in the forest, kids at camp Neverland have a blast, rain or shine.

LBF has been offering summer camps since 1972 and is the perfect environment for any age child to learn about nature in its overgrown trails and quiet pond. Next year LBF will be offering even more great kids camps focused on imagination, inclusion, and the wilderness.
