Masterworks for Nature Art Show at Cincinnati Nature Center

Don't miss the chance to see the region's most renowned nature artists at this premier art show. The show opened Sunday, November 22 and will continue to Sunday, November 29 at Cincinnati Nature Center Rowe Woods from 10:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. The show is free for Cincinnati Nature Center members. Nonmembers pay a daily admission fee of $3 on weekdays, $5 on Saturdays and Sundays which can be reimbursed with a purchase from the Cincinnati Nature Center Nature Shop.

Award winning artists such as John Ruthven, Ann Giese, John Agnew and nine others exhibit original artwork depicting nature's beauty on oil, acrylic and watercolor paintings and woodcarving and bronze sculptures.

"It is a pleasure to be able to host such a grand exhibit," said Bill Hopple, Executive Director of Cincinnati Nature Center. "The Masterworks for Nature organization has consistently supported our efforts and we are proud to be able to display their incredible work," he added.

Masterworks for Nature is a group of wildlife and landscape artists of national acclaim with a common passion for nature. Through the exhibition and sale of their artwork depicting natural subjects, this group strives to increase awareness and educate the public about the natural world and provide funding for conservation efforts.

Cincinnati Nature Center's Rowe Woods is located at 4949 Tealtown Rd., Milford, OH 45150. For more information please visit www.CincyNature.org or call 513/831-1711.

Cincinnati Nature Center is a non-profit, environmental education organization whose mission is to inspire passion for nature and promote environmentally responsible choices through experience, education and stewardship to ensure a sustainable future. .
